

Consequence: the DSL does not need time-indexed variables for the CQL to be faithful, which is what made deferring that decision safe rather than merely convenient.

Genuinely multi-visit predicates — “eGFR < 60 on two occasions ≥ 90 days apart”, which is the definition of CKD — remain out of fragment and route to unsupported_temporal.